

Fu Jen Catholic University

Ph.D. Program in Nutrition and Food Science Procedure Chart

Study Procedure

List of enrollments is published

Participate in the Freshmen Seminar

Select supervising professor

Doctoral Candidate Qualification Test

Ph.D. Oral Defense

Regulations

June each year

Before the end of each semester : Submit your supervisor professor's letter of consent to the Program's office.

(The Program Director supervise you before you find a supervisor)

1. Those who have obtained at least two seminar credits and completed the required courses for admission to each group are eligible to apply for a written examination. Applicants must submit their application to the program's office by the deadline of the semester prior to the examination, and complete their examination by the deadline of the semester. The deadline for the fall semester is 31th of December, and the deadline for the spring semester is 31th of May.
2. Students who have passed the written examination and completed the required and elective credits needed for graduation from the program are eligible to apply for the oral examination (research project proposal).
3. Those who have passed the written examination must complete the oral examination by the end of their eighth semester of study.

1. One month before the date of the oral examination, students must submit an application to the program's office, apply online for the oral examination process, and submit a certificate of approval of their research proposal together with proof of academic publication (according to the number of publications).
2. Students must submit the first draft of their dissertation to the degree examination committee 10 days before the oral examination.
3. After passing the oral examination, the dissertation must be submitted, and the procedure for leaving the university must be completed in the correct order.
4. The oral examination for the doctoral degree must be completed within 7 years of completion of the student's courses (3 years of leave of absence allowed).